WINTER

“The Colour of Winter is in the Imagination” (Ward Elliot Hour)

Saturday 25th November, 7.30pm, Hovingham Village Hall

Me & Thee Theatre and musicians from folk bands The Fine Companions and Malarkey have collaborated to stage a performance celebrating winter through songs, stories and poetry at Hovingham Village Hall on Saturday 25th November.

Listen to the original story of Sam North, a child looking for respite from caring for his father, and whose one wish is to visit the Ice Hotel. Discover the sinister antics of Jólakötturinn, the Yule Cat of Icelandic Folklore, who spends Yule Eve searching through the snow on the look-out for a particular kind of prey. Both pieces are interpreted and brought to life with some fine folk songs and tunes.

This promises to be a cosy evening of entertainment for everyone to enjoy (children 10+yrs).

The performance commences at 7.30 p.m. (Doors 7.00 p.m.). Tickets, £9, are on sale at the Hovingham Market on 4th November, The Hovingham Village Shop, or can be ordered by phone – 01653 690212 and 01653 669107 or bought on the door on the night.
