Nunnington Galleries

Four special Artists at Nunnington Galleries

Nunnington Galleries exhibits artwork by a carefully selected group of contemporary artists working in a range of media to convey their love of the British landscape – its sights, sounds and seasons, its textures and tones, its coasts and creatures.

We're delighted to present work by four renowned northern artists: Liz Churton, Jonathan Pomroy, Patrick Smith and Justine Warner. All four convey their passion for their subject in a variety of ways and media; each is deeply rooted in the dramatic beauty of the world around them.

Nunnington Galleries is located in a beautiful converted barn in the picturesque village of Nunnington, North Yorkshire, in the heart of the Ryedale district.

Kevin Bradshaw is pleased to announce the rebrand of Gallery Beyond to Nunnington Galleries. The gallery focusses on the work of 5 Yorkshire Based Artists – Jonathan Pomroy – Liz Churton – Patrick Smith – Justine Warner and Lucy Saggars.

Kevin said "We're delighted to showcase the work of Jonathan Pomroy. We also have a special treat as, weather permitting, Jonathan will be joining us at the Market to paint and sign copies of his book, On Crescent Wings – A portrait of the Swift.

Jonathan will be available to discuss his work and conservation projects too.

Look out for the yellow legged hornet

Ryedale Honey Adrian, known affectionately as "the honey man" seeks your help in spotting and reporting the Asian hornet (Vespa velutina). This is a species of hornet which is not native to the UK. It is smaller than our native hornet and poses no greater risk to human health than other hornets or bees.

However, they do pose a risk to honey bees and pollinating insects. This is why we are keen to stop this insect establishing in the UK, and why you should report suspected sightings.

When a sighting is confirmed, experts from the National Bee Unit (NBU) and the Animal and Plant Health Agency (APHA) will work quickly to find and destroy any active nests in the area. Click here to find out more
